FIN. COM. ACTS ON 'TAXI SLUSH'

Immediate and thorough investigation of an alleged $10,000 taxi slush fund by the Boston Finance Commission was demanded today by City Councillor Clement Norton.

Norton also demanded that the four "unnamed" councillors declared to have made inquiries regarding the slush fund reveal their identities and clear the rest of the council.

"The entire council today is under a cloud as a result of this scandalous situation," said Norton.

But even before Norton made his demand, David Lasker, chairman of the Finance Commission, had called a meeting of that body for tomorrow afternoon, to decide what action will be taken.

DEMANDS 4 NAMES

Norton declared his intention of filing a formal order with the council for a Finance Commission probe.

In his demand that the four unnamed councillors said to have approached officials of the Independent Taxi Operators' Association to track down a rumored "payoff" be identified Norton was joined by other councillors.

"In fairness to the entire membership of the city council," said Councillor Perle Dyer Chase of the Back Bay, "I demand that the officials of the Independent Taxi Operators' Association reveal the names of the council members alleged to have talked with them."

DENY BRIBE SOUGHT

Councillor Philip A. Fish of Dorchester said:

"I hope the whole truth will out."

Councillor William A. Carey, Teakbury said:

"I am heartily in favor of any investigation that will clarify the issue and establish the truth of what has transpired."

The charge that inquiries had been made concerning such a fund was made by both George J. Naymie, treasurer, and Abraham Miller, president of the association. Both denied the quartet had solicited funds.

"If everything was above board," Norton said today, "the four councillors should reveal their identities at once."

"Certain members of the commission asked that the names be made public then and there. Why was this not done?"

"In order that suspicion may not be cast at any member, these four men should admit the facts." An uproar greeted the "slush fund" statement made by Naymie.

France Balks Duce Grab; Nazis Ease Ban on Jews

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP)—Italy was reported in diplomatic circles today to have indicated she will seek to internationalize Tunis to remove the territory from strict French control.

Apparently balked in any idea of winning territory for Italy by the rising tide of French defensive measures, Premier Mussolini was reported to have formulated a new plan for presentation to Premier Chamberlain when the latter visits Rome early next month.

Sources close to the foreign office said that Chamberlain had promised to keep the French-Italian fight over Djibouti off the agenda when he visits Rome.

BACKS FRENCH STAND

The British premier also was said to have promised to back up a French stand against transferring any territory to Italy.

French thought that Mussolini's approach to Chamberlain would be based on the thesis that Tunisia is legally an independent country under French protection.

Italy could ask that she and Germany, as well as Britain and perhaps other countries, be given equal control over the Tunisian government with France.

Tunisia would thus become a sort of Tangier (internationalized zone in Morocco under British, French, Italian and Spanish administration).

Under such a condition, Italy could ask the right to send an additional 100,000 immigrants into Tunisia.

The French, meanwhile, made an open show of firmness and readiness. Two warships were on PARIS—French defensive moves reported discouraging Italian hopes for North African territory. Italy may seek internationalizing of Tunisia as partial gain.

LONDON—Refugee committee reports Hitler to relax drive against elderly Jews provided young Jews emigrate.

WARSAW—Polish-Czech tension grows; Polish troops at border as bomb and machine-gun charges are hurled at Czechs.

Bulletins

WARSAW, Dec. 29 (AP)—The semi-official newspaper Gazeta Polska today reported a new border incident in the Teschen territory which Poland recently acquired from dismembered Czechoslovakia. It charged that hand grenades and machine guns were fired from the Czech side gravely wounding two Polish frontier guards and a Polish policeman at Freistadt, on the Polish side.

LONDON, Dec. 29 (INS)—The Daily Express reported from Prague today that Poland closed the Czech-Polish border at Teschen, posting machine gun nests and saw battalions of troops. Troop movements followed Poland's third protest to Czechoslovakia against alleged Czech bomb throwing in the Teschen area.

Await Dever Ruling on 8 New Pardons

District attorneys of Suffolk and Essex and Middlesex counties were meeting with Attorney General Dever today concerning the latest batch of pardon appeals pending before Governor Hurley and the council.

Eight suggested pardons remain for consideration today, two of the subjects being convicted murderers, two armed robbers.

Friends of the attorney-general, only Democrat to win a major post in the last election, have said that on his way out Governor Hurley is on a pardoning spree that threatens respect for law.

It is understood Dever has been in touch with Dist. Atty. Foley of Suffolk County and Dist. Atty. William G. Andrew of Middlesex County.

Andrew has stated he has no recommendations to make with regard to the suggested pardons proposed to the Council by Chairman Frank A. Brooks in the names of the committee on pardons.

The men seeking release include Antonio Giannetti, sentenced to life from Essex County in 1912 for murder, Dominico Beninati, 41, sentenced from Middlesex County in 1913 for murder.

Also, Daniel Allen, serving a term of from 10 to 12 years for robbery, James F. Burnett, serving 20 to 30 years for a robbery under arms.

John Miller, sentenced in 1926 to from 25 to 30 years for armed robbery, with intent to kill or maim, is another applicant for release.

Racing Board Probe Row Demanded

Despite protests by Governor-elect Leverett Saltonstall, hearings on racing dates for 1939 came up today before the State Racing Commission, even as a Legislative move was launched for investigation of that body.

With Saltonstall seeking unsuccessfully to postpone action until after January 1, Representatives Arthur J. Burgess of Quincy and Philip G. Bowker of Brookline filed an order for a Legislative investigation of the recent changes in membership on the commission.

Charging "undue haste" in awarding racing dates, the two legislators, in a joint statement, declared:

"The circumstances surrounding the resignation from the Racing Commission of James G. Moran and Thomas E. Cassidy within a week of each other and the subsequent appointment of George G. Mayne and Thomas H. Foley to these places appear strange in the extreme."

RAPS "UNDUE HASTE"

"Mr. Moran's term with a salary of $4000 per year had one additional year to run and Mr. Cassidy's term with a salary of $4000 per year had two additional years to run."

"Consistent with the strange circumstances surrounding the resignations and appointments is the apparent undue haste of the two new members of the commission to rush public hearings for applications for horse racing licenses in the face of the request of Governor-elect Saltonstall to postpone action until after Jan. 5."

"Under the racing laws in Massachusetts racing cannot begin until April 18. Let us find out the reasons for this undue haste."

ADAMS BACKS PROBE

The terms of the order call for the appointment of one Senator by the President of the Senate and two Representatives by the Speaker of the House. The commission is instructed to study with "a view to determining whether or not said facts and circumstances warrant the taking of further action by said committee, by the Governor and Council, or by the General Court."

The commission is instructed to report its findings "as soon as may be."

Informed of the order for an investigation, Charles F. Adams, chairman of the board of directors and acting president of the Eastern Racing Association, which operates Suffolk Downs, said:

"Under all the circumstances and from all the available information, I am of the opinion that such an investigation is warranted and desirable."

Blonde and beautiful, Lillian Roth today was no joke to Comedian Stan Laurel as she pressed suit in Los Angeles to get title to all community property, $25,000 attorneys' fees, $1500 separate maintenance, and to eject him from his Canoga Park home. The woman, a former Russian dancer, and Laurel were married three times in 1938.

Raise Bid to $20,000 For Quins Born in Ohio

LEESBURG, O., Dec. 29 (INS).—The Leesburg Weekly Citizen, whose offer last year of $10,000 for the first quintuplets born within eight miles of Leesburg went unclaimed, today doubled the offer.

Besides offering $20,000 in the quintuplet class, the Citizen said it would pay $10,000 to the first quadruplets, $1000 to the first triplets, $10 to the first twins and $5 for the first baby born within eight miles of Leesburg in 1939.

But the first baby will receive $5 only if both parents are Republicans, the paper stipulated.

"In case both parents are Democrats," said the Citizen, "only $250 will be paid. If Communists, Fascists, Nazis, or other such rot, parents will pay the Citizen $100 and have driving rights suspended for one year."

Blonde Beauty Tells Of Unclad 'Rival'

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Beautiful blond Phyllis Cameron, ex-Broadway dancer, thinks she's beautiful enough, herself, without her husband, Lester Isaac, having to have some other woman, unclad, in his apartment.

So she says in a supplement to her cross-bill to Isaac's suit for divorce, on file here today in Supreme court. Isaac, she says, entertained the unclad woman in his West End penthouse apartment on May 22.

Isaac, wealthy theatrical executive, already has expressed himself in his own suit against the lovely Phyllis. She was too willing, he alleges, to have other men perceive her loveliness.

The lovely Phyllis says that's all "the bunk." Her husband, she says, even tried to trap her in an apartment in Rio de Janeiro. Detectives took her to police headquarters, she alleges, but, she says, she was able to prove she was merely attending a party at which other guests were present, and so, the "trap" failed.

The Isaacs have been separated since 1937, when Phyllis went to Rio on a South American tour.

Auto Victim Is 'Girl Nobody Knows'

Mystery Blonde Killed in Crash

The six cents she had in her purse wasn't enough to pay her carfare home to Milton from Cambridge.

So an unidentified blonde young woman, about 29 years old, accepted an auto ride—to her death—today.

She was killed when the car of two Arlington youths, who gave her a lift, collided with a taxicab on Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, near Cottage Farm Bridge.

Hours after the crash, the victim's body lay unclaimed at City Hospital morgue.

FEAR YOUTH DYING

At the hospital, seriously injured, were the Arlington youths, Edward J. Quinn, 9, of Hobbs street, and William T. Glynn, 22, of Pierce street.

Quinn, suffering from a fractured skull, was feared dying.

Glynn, with leg and head injuries, was held for treatment, but was able to tell his story to police.

He said: "This blonde girl came up to us in Central square, Cambridge, and asked if we'd take her home to Milton."

"She showed us six cents in change and said that was all the money she had."

TAXI DRIVER HELD

"Because of the fix she was in, without carfare, I agreed to give her a lift."

"The crash occurred just after we crossed the Cottage Farm bridge, on the way from Cambridge."

According to police, the taxicab in the collision was operated by Hyman Herson, 34, of Frontenac street, Dorchester.

He was held on a technical charge of manslaughter.

The girl victim was still alive when admitted to City Hospital, but she died on the operating table.

Doctors said almost every bone in her body had been broken as she was hurled through a window of the automobile.

WORE GREEN DRESS

Apparently 29 or 30 years old, she wore a black cloth coat, with an imitation Persian lamb collar, over a fashionably sheer green woolen dress.

Her shoes were open-toed, her stockings brown chiffon.

If she had worn a hat, it was lost in the accident. Her handbag was of black, imitation leather.

Doctors said her body showed scars of two surgical operations.

Meantime, police and auto registry inspectors were investigating the fatal crash.

The Arlington auto skidded across the intersection at Commonwealth avenue and Cottage Farm bridge after the collision, knocking down a mail box and smashing into a concrete retaining wall.

Curley's Brother Gains in Illness

Said to be suffering from a kidney ailment, John J. Curley, 65, former city treasurer and brother of former Governor Curley, was gaining in health today, according to Dr. Louis F. Curtan, his personal physician.

Ex-Mayor Nichols Goes to Hospital

Malcolm E. Nichols, former mayor of Boston, long a Republican leader here, was under treatment at Boston City Hospital today. Physicians reported him as not in any danger and resting very comfortably.

LILLIAN ROTH

"Great Love" to End in Reno

Lillian Roth Sees Love Dream Fade

Her dreams of a "great love" shattered for a third time, lissome stage and screen star Lillian Roth, formerly of Roxbury, was Reno-bound today, she announced in Chicago.

She said she would seek a divorce from her second husband, brilliant young Municipal Court Justice Benjamin Shalleck of New York.

Twice, before she met Shalleck, lovely dark-haired Lillian believed she had found life happiness in the arms of her "ideal man."

Her first romance was with Herbert Oshinsky, dashing Broadway theatrical agent.

For him Lillian prepared to give up the career she was achieving, even then, as a footlight and screen singer and beauty, a career which had begun when she made her stage debut in Boston at the age of six.

Oshinsky died, however, before he and Lillian Roth could marry.

Broken hearted, the pretty Roxbury girl turned back to her work.

Her face and figure and a talent for singing and dancing won her feature billings in flashy New York revues staged by Earl Carroll and the late Florenz Ziegfeld.

She was a hit on the Amsterdam roof with Maurice Chevalier.

After that, Hollywood was quick to bid for her services. Most conspicuous of her successes were in the pictures, "Love Parade" and "The Vagabond King."

During the heyday of her popularity, she snatched time to elope to Atlanta, Ga., with William C. Scott, handsome, boyish heir to a Pittsburgh steel fortune.

But the marriage didn't jell.

Scott and Lillian found they had divergent interests and were quietly divorced.

Then youthful Judge Shalleck, a Mayor Jimmy Walker protégé, saw Lillian in a Palace theater show and was immediately smitten.

"From now on, I'm a wife, not an actress," Lillian said. "My marriage will be my career."

But she was wrong about that, she admitted today.

They were married in 1933.

Buckner Deal 'Sleigh Ride' Told by Model

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (INS).—Slim, attractive, auburn-haired Noel Carter, photographer's model, informed government investigators that she knew nothing of William P. Buckner, Jr.'s $1,000,000 Philippine bond deal, but admitted she had been "taken for a sleigh ride" to Washington by Buckner's partner, William J. Gillespie.

Asked to interpret this remark after she had emerged from a 30-minute conference with Assistant U. S. Attorney Maloney, Miss Carter, a vision in Nile green and fur, laughingly explained she had gone to the Capitol on a party with several other Broadway beauties, as Gillespie's guest.

Maloney and Department of Justice agents have charged that the party was given by Buckner in honor of several nationally prominent legislators whom he wished to influence in connection with his gigantic bond deal. He spent $50,000 on the merry-making according to Maloney, but Miss Carter made it plain she got no part of it.

"I'm supposed to get $150 for testifying," she said. "At least that would pay my taxi fare home—if I got it. But I didn't."

She pouted prettily—then—

"Damn it. They said they would send me a check."

Buckner is now in California, at liberty under bail, on a business visit. There he escorted Loretta Young, movie star, to church on Christmas.

Boys Break Into Mint Two Balk Bombs, Gas and Steel

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29 (AP).—The new armor-plated and heavily guarded United States mint was raided by two 15-year-old boys who got in last night by scaling a wall and raising an unlocked window.

Police Inspector Max Reznik identified the boys as Paul Francis and William Gallagher, residents of an orphanage at San Rafael. They were held for juvenile authorities.

"We wanted to see if we could do it," officers quoted them. Bedlam broke out in the huge fortress of granite and steel—supposedly impregnable—when a guard saw two prowlers in the copper store room.

Lights went on, bells sounded and angry-voiced men with machine guns appeared.

Inspector Reznik said the boys had tossed out of a window a big sheet of copper from the room where pennies are made.

George Maher, captain of the mint guard, asked the two orphans how they managed to enter the building protected by great walls, by impenetrable steel, tear gas equipment, heavy bars, numerous burglar alarms and a large force of guards.

Paul and William said it was simple.

"We went around to the Octavia street side of the building."

police quoted them.

"We found the windows nearest the ground barred. So we climbed up a pipe to the second story and crept around a ledge until we found a window partly open."

"We just pushed the window in further and dropped down inside. That was all there was to it. It was easy. We didn't mean any harm. It was all in fun."

P. J. Haggerty, superintendent of the mint, was disturbed.

"Leave it to a kid to do what a mob of gangsters couldn't do," he said. "I wouldn't have thought it could be done. Those kids must be Houdinis."

Girl's Courage Cheats Death

Plucky Shirley Nord, 13, of Saunders road, Lynn, was still alive today, thanks to her rescuers—and her own courage.

She went through thin ice in Newhall's Pond and was in the water 25 minutes before a crude device fashioned of a clothesline and a ladder enabled her to clamber to safety.

In the terrible interim she clung to the edge of what ice she could reach and tread water. Rescuers were Raymond Grady and Ralph L. Kriedler of Broadway, Lynn.

Flurries of Snow Due To Follow N. E. Cold Wave

Boston's shivers will be over tomorrow, meteorologically, but not for long—because 1938 will go out like a lion, according to today's reading of the weather map.

The mercury hit 14 degrees for a low at 7 a. m. today, six degrees under yesterday's low reading, but during the day the temperature rose slowly.

Snow flurries are probable during the night and tomorrow the mercury is expected to climb above the freezing mark. But there will be another sharp drop tomorrow night.

and Saturday, with biting blasts to welcome in the New Year.

20 BELOW IN N. H.

One of the coldest spots on the New England map today was Mount Washington, N. H., where the mercury fell to 20 below and a northwest wind whirled at 112 miles an hour. There were 14 inches of snow at Mount Washington and 18 inches in Pinkham Notch, N. H.

So if you thought it was cold in Boston earlier today, consider that temperature and consider also that five years ago today the mercury slid to 17 below in the Hub.

DEATH TOLL, 29

The latest cold weather victim was Walter Bart, 22, of New Boston road, North Attleboro, who broke through the ice while skating at Cooper's pond, Attleboro. His companion, Miss Helen LaPointe, 17, was rescued.

Throughout the country, at least 29 persons were dead in the wake of the paralyzing cold that caused suffering and hardship from Montana to Maine and still held most of the eastern seaboard in its icy grip as a new storm brewed in the west.

Wragg Names Norfolk Aides

Sheriff-elect Samuel H. Wragg, Norfolk County's first new sheriff in 56 years, today announced additional appointments to his staff of deputies and at Dedham jail.

Announced were the appointments of Joseph T. Hunter and Archie L. Walden as deputies, and Robert Peaney, Joseph Lund, Louis Bagley and Dominick Papasidero as new guards at the jail.

Deputy Sheriff Edwin H. Downs, of Foxboro, will succeed Richard Shedd, resigned, as the new deputy master at the jail.

Sheriff Wragg will be sworn into office Wednesday morning by Secretary of State Cook.

Bigamist Gets Year in Jail

While Wife No. 2 sat silent, but with tear-filled eyes, Edward H. Stokes, 35, Inman street, Cambridge, was found guilty of polygamy by Judge Edward Cummins, Jr., in East Cambridge court today, and was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction.

Stokes, the court was told, married Edith White Brooks in August, 1936, when he had a wife and child in Providence.

Stokes' lawyer pleaded for leniency, stating Wife No. 1 was "willing to take him back" if he were placed on probation.

Wife No. 2 sought to speak to Stokes as he was led away, but could not get near.

Relief Probe Started By Love Nest Fraud

A little boy was denied his daily milk allowance because "another woman" received the order in his mother's name.

That is one of the more sensational charges facing a probe of welfare recipients in Cambridge launched by Mayor John W. Lyons. But while Mayor Lyons and his aides worked today to amass evidence against hundreds of dole takers, Walter V. McCarthy, state commissioner of public welfare, declared the charges are "greatly exaggerated." The state, which provides about 20 per cent of the dole money, started a probe of its own.

A young mother of four children presented the complaint which has brought Mayor Lyons' probe to the attention of state authorities.

She declared that while her husband was sending her $4 and $5 a week, a rent and food allowance due her was being sent to another woman known as his wife.

The mother and her small children went without food for several days at a time until she discovered the fraud, she told authorities.

When she went to the Cambridge City Hall showing her marriage record, an official of the welfare department said he was "not interested," she asserted.

Meanwhile Mayor John Lynch of the neighboring city of Somerville was taking further steps today in exposing 102 persons who allegedly are receiving welfare money under fraudulent claims.

Franco Planes Down 20 Foes

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Dec. 29 (AP)—An insurgent communiqué boasted today 20 government planes were downed in the greatest air battle of the massive offensive into Catalonia.

Despite the aviation success, however, the insurgent land drive slowed almost to deadlock. Gains reported were of minor consequence, although in six days insurgents have claimed conquest of 380 odd square miles of territory.

Warns South America To Stick to Germany

BERLIN, Dec. 29 (AP)—Rudolf Brinkmann, secretary of state in the German economics ministry, today warned South American countries to stick close to Germany economically or they might find themselves without a lucrative market.

Italians Sign New Trade Pact

ROME, Dec. 29 (INS)—Italian plans for increased trade with South America took a step forward today with revelation that the Fascist government has signed a pact with Uruguay which may triple the annual trade turn-over between the two nations.

Authorities here expect trade between the two countries, which previously has averaged about $6,250,000 a year, now to reach a total of $18,750,000.

Some observers in Italy saw an ironic coincidence in the fact the new pact was signed on the same day the Pan-American conference at Lima terminated with signature of a declaration of solidarity among the 21 American republics.

Police Capture Injured Parolee In Auto Chase

Captured in a rough and tumble battle with police, after a wild, East Boston auto chase in which nine persons were injured and several shots fired, a paroled Concord Reformatory convict was near death at City Hospital today.

The parolee, Richard J. Walsh, 23, of Summer street, East Boston, was reported to have a possible fracture of the skull. His name was placed on the danger list.

Meantime, eight criminal charges were brought against Walsh in East Boston district court.

Police filed complaints accusing him of misappropriation of an automobile, assault and battery on a police officer, and six counts of auto law violation.

The chase which preceded Walsh's capture began when two officers in a cruising car attempted to halt him on Saratoga street, East Boston, near Orient Heights. He was allegedly operating an auto stolen in Boston from a Whitman man.

A second police car joined in the pursuit after Walsh had allegedly tried to run down Patrolman Benjamin Huie.

In the breakneck race through crowded East Boston streets, the auto Walsh was driving hit two other machines, causing minor injuries to nine persons, police said.

Fine Lowell Scion for Topsy Ride

It wasn't poetry.

It was just the judge saying—

"Operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor—guilty; fined $50."

"Operating to endanger—guilty; fined $25."

No, it wasn't poetry Judge Edward Conahan, Jr., was speaking today—but he was talking to a post-young Robert Tison Spence Lowell, Jr., 21, of THE Massachusetts Lowells.

Young Mr. Lowell, whose cousin is Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, upstart-emeritus of Harvard, and whose family tree includes such names as James Russell Lowell and the late Amy Lowell, checked out of Harvard two years ago to study poetry at Kenyon College in Ohio.

IN WRECKED AUTO

At 2 a. m., December 22, Police- man Gerald McCarthy told Judge Conahan in East Cambridge district court today, he found young Lowell and a girl in a wrecked car on Grozier road, Cambridge.

The action of the Lowells, Police- man McCarthy said, admitted they had "some beer and wine."

Was the girl, Judge Conahan asked, an "er—chance acquaint- ance?"

Oh, no! young Lowell's attorney hastened to tell the court—she was Miss Jean Stafford, 23, of Monument road, Concord, a friend of years' standing.

GIRLS NOSE BROKEN

"She was taken to Cambridge hospi- tal," Policeman McCarthy said stolidly.

Judge Conahan summoned Medical Examiner David Dow. He wanted a report on Miss Stafford's injuries, he said, before he disposed of the case. Dr. Dow communi- cated with hospital authorities. She had a broken nose, he re- ported back, but otherwise her in- juries were not serious.

Young Lowell pleaded not guilty to the drunkenness, drunken driv- ing and driving so as to endanger, but admitted the court's findings of guilty and paid his $75 in fines.

Plymouth Jail Guard Slugged

PLYMOUTH, Dec. 29.—A Plymouth jail guard was severely beaten over the head today in what Sheriff Charles H. Robbins described as a "possible" attempted jail break.

Frank Monish, 40, was hit so hard it required three stitches to close the wound on his scalp. He said he was suddenly struck from behind.

A broomhandle was found beside him when officers picked him up. Monish said he believed a master lock on a cell block had been tam- pered with, and that an inmate had left his cell and then gone back after telling him.

Authorities said they believed they knew the identity of the at- tacker and that investigation would be made.

Wait Dad's O.K. To 'Save' Girl

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP).—A surgical sentence of "amputate or die" hung over 8-year-old Dorothy Lewis, afflicted with cancer of the thigh, while physicians waited au- thority from the child's father to attempt a life-saving operation.

Virtual abandonment of hope for non-surgical treatment was evinced in a Bulletin issued by Dorothy's doctors.

"The status of the case remains unchanged. There is no likeli- hood that further irradiation treatment can be used for the present at least. The father has not given his consent for ampu- tation. When he does give it, we will proceed immediately."

Fate Aided War on Disease, Death.

Fate saved a bullet at Cambrai—and saved millions of lives! Its coolness Dr. Frederick G. Zinsing. It might have killed him, but it didn't, and he returned home to Toronto to perfect insulin. Millions of diabetics live normally, happily, because of that discovery, and among them is Dr. George Richards Minot, of the Boston Minots.

Diabetes might have killed Doctor Minot, but it didn't, because of insulin, and he lived on to give to the world, with Doctor Murphy, the boon of liver treatment for pernicious anemia. . . . More millions living normally, happily. . . . A bullet saved at Cambrai. . . .

By GEORGE W. CLARKE

Copyright, 1938, by the Boston Evening American

The cats probably didn't like it—but they helped save some 50,000 persons in America alone from the necessity of eating 9,125,000 pounds of liver a year. . . .

Doctor George Richards Minot and his colleague, Dr. William Parry Murphy found out that liver saved the lives of sufferers from pernicious anemia. They found out that it required half a pound a day.

That found out that on such a diet all symptoms disappeared, that a disease with a death rate of 100 per cent was completely controllable. . . . if the patient could keep on eating that much liver.

DR. WILLIAM B. CASTLE
At Work in Laboratory

But it was pretty tough on the patient.

So with Dr. Edwin J. Cohn of the department of physical chemistry of the Harvard Medical School they started out to obtain a workable concentrate.

It was told yesterday how Dr. Cohn submitted the livers of pigs and beavers to chemical dissection, how he separated solids from liquids and of how, finally, after three precipitations obtained a residue which when tested was found to have all of the essential elements.

It took three quarters of a pound of liver to make half an ounce of the powdered extract, and it took half an ounce a day to keep a patient well. It was effective, but expensive. It cost about $5-a-week for treatments—little enough for the boon of health, but a serious drain on the purses of those who simply didn't have the money.

Now it costs twenty cents a week.

STILL A MYSTERY

Just why liver extract keeps a dying man from dying no one yet knows.

This is known, however, Pernicious anemia is due to a deficiency in the body, to the failure of some stomach function, to the lack of some essential secretion.

That this is true was demonstrated at the Thorndike Memorial Laboratory of the Boston City Hospital in a series of studies in which sterile normal gastric juices mixed with food was given to victims of pernicious anemia. They got well. This, too, led to an effective treatment, and, a few years ago, dried preparations of the stomachs of animals were made available by Doctors Sturgis and Isaacs of Ann Arbor, Mich.

The liver treatment, however, is so much easier and cheaper that the other is not used extensively.

How to make the liver treatment still more effective was the task of Dr. William B. Castle, now carrying the work forward at the Boston hospital.

Using anesthetized cats, a series of experiments were undertaken to determine whether it was possible to make a practical liver extract which could be given by injection, into the veins. The extract was tried in various types of solution, utilizing various purifications. It was finally determined that the best was a simple solution in plain, sterilized water. Then, when the experiments on the cats had shown the extract to be safe, came the first injection into the vein of a human.

Surprisingly enough, the extract when injected into a vein was found almost immediately to be no less than 30 times more effective than when the same extract was swallowed.

INJECTIONS EFFECTIVE

Soon it was discovered that injections could be given into the muscles as well as into a vein. This was much easier and eliminated any risk of a fall of blood pressure resulting unless the material was given very slowly into a vein.

Finally it was determined to try even smaller doses and it soon became clear that a weekly injection of one-sixth of an ounce was enough, and did more good than a hundred times as much of the same material taken by mouth.

Elsewhere the process of simplification has continued until it has reached its present stage, with certain new preparations of which injections of one-thirtieth of an ounce are given in the large, soft muscles of the back once every two weeks. But these are not always as good for the neurological symptoms as the older injections of one-sixth of an ounce and are more expensive to prepare. So, as is usual, the Boston City Hospital patients are given the best in the form of the older, well tried liver extract.

The emancipation of the patient is practically complete.

TREATMENT, NOT CURE

Some things about liver extract treatment must be understood, however. It is a treatment, not a cure. It is like insulin in that its continued use is necessary for continued good health.

Unlike insulin, however, the intramuscular injections are apparently completely harmless. There is no such thing, it seems, as an overdose.

A diabetic, using insulin, is always balanced on a mythical tight-rope, fearful of falling off on either side and unlike the patient with pernicious anemia he must constantly watch his diet.

Diabetics inject themselves, after they have been taught how by the doctor, with insulin. There is nothing to prevent anemia sufferers, after careful instruction by the doctor, from injecting extract into the muscular tissue with a minimum risk and discomfort.

Some economic aspects of the situation are interesting. If the cost of the injections had not been reduced to approximately 20 cents each by Doctor Castle and his associates, the cost to the hospital alone would be $1000-a-week for powdered extract to treat its 200 Out Patients who go there every two weeks now for treatments.

under the supervision of Doctor Maurice B. Strauss.

In this connection it is interesting to know, also that Boston City Hospital men, Doctor Minot and Doctor Clark W. Heath are responsible for the iron treatment of the commonest type of anemia, hypochromic, which afflicts thousands upon thousands of women.

It has long been known that iron helps to make blood so, after careful consideration of all factors, it was determined to treat women so afflicted with large doses of iron ammonium citrate.

The treatment was immediately effective and now this or some other form of iron is universally given. Its cost, 1 cent a day.

Dr. Castle carried his studies afield when, under the aegis of the Rockefeller Foundation, he went down to Puerto Rico with the liver injection treatment and attended hundreds of poorly nourished Puerto Ricans, many of whom suffered from "sprue," a disease somewhat like pernicious anemia.

Likewise treatment with iron worked in the anemia of hook worm disease and has supplied a new method for the handling of hook worm sufferers.

What Boston City Hospital workers have found out about your drinking habits, what liquor does to you, and why, will be the topic for tomorrow's installment of this series.

'RAY! DIET BATTLE WON!

Carol Frank, author of "Diet Battle Won!"

CHAPTER X

The deed is done! The battle is won!

I've been home from the hospital a month, and I've lost 20 pounds. Counting the ten pounds I lost in the hospital, the grand total is 30 pounds in a few days over five weeks!

There has been a lot of talk in a village in New England about a diet battle. Was it a diet battle? Not a diet battle, but a battle for the diet. It was a battle for the diet, and it was won.

It was a battle for the diet, and it was won. I had been in the hospital for a month, and I had lost 20 pounds. Counting the ten pounds I lost in the hospital, the grand total is 30 pounds in a few days over five weeks!

I found that the diet was not a diet, but a battle. I had been in the hospital for a month, and I had lost 20 pounds. Counting the ten pounds I lost in the hospital, the grand total is 30 pounds in a few days over five weeks!

BECOMES EASIER

After a bit of experimenting you will get to know how much of anything you are eating without weighing it. In measuring canned food always use the content in ounces on the label, and you can figure from there. When you buy half a pound of meat you know that it is a half a pound, or it is a quarter of a pound, or it is a eighth of a pound.

Quoting from the report regarding the diet that gave me when I left the hospital, here is the basic allotment for the day: three meals. Remember that this is three meals, not three courses. The diet is a 600 calorie diet, and the individual requirements might indicate more.

Hollywood

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29—England at this writing is being combed to find the right Tom Ransome for "The Rains Came." Darryl Zanuck has an expert cameraman at work searching along the highways and byways to find an attractive young man with the necessary accent and the descriptive qualities that Louis Bromfield gave the morally down-and-out Britisher marooned in India.

The script, I learned, by merest accident, is all ready to shoot, and Nancy Kelly, T. C. F.'s biggest 1938 discovery, plays Peter, with MAYRA LAY as the girl who saves him from all set as Lady Isobel, who finds her reputation in jeopardy for the unfortunate Indian found suffering.

Shirley Logan gets the top female shot, and before you tell me you never heard of her, let me add that this is her movie debut. A pretty blonde from an Eastern stock company, Shirley is another of those Cinderella stories that starts hundreds of girls thinking to Hollywood in search of fortune. She was just visiting on the lot when a talent scout saw her and tested her—and presto, she's now a leading lady.

Are Wallace Beery and Metro Goldwyn Mayer rowing again or is it the same personal battle that goes on year after year? Wally refuses to go on the Good News program, although each player is supposed to appear once a year to boost their picture. He stayed up in his cabin and not all the king's horses or all the king's men could bring him back to the studio.

A line of two Charlie Chaplin's find, Linda Stiverson, has got herself the job of the vamp in the next Blondie opus, "Blondie Steps Out," with Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton. Lloyd Pryor, who never wanted to leave the movies for Broadway, may get another chance at a screen career. Lora is paying him for a role in Jack Benny's "Man About Town" and it will certainly make Ann Sothern happy if her traveling stage can arrange his bookings so he can accept.

Jack Benny Film On Twin Screens

Fare and fashions divide attention in Paramount's "Mystery Men and Models Abroad," which is now romance-comedy-rags Jack Benny and his vaudeville team, opening today on the Paramount and Parkway screens.

Benny quips a star and theatrical troupe through Italy and into a fashion show sponsored by Schiaparelli. Mabel, Buff and Paquin. His even more popular daughter of a Texas state where he is a bit hard to work is the new Mrs. Benny's sister, Kiki. Jack, is having the time of his life.

The Yacht Club boys are as funny as the script. A. A. T. film winds up with Crosby, Chaplin, wine, coming out last, Charles and a Paramount cast of stars.

Francis, who was a bit out of range and can't resist a snicker. The second feature, "Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn," is a series of four adventures involving a baffling murder mystery.

Boyer's French Hit Held Over

Charles Boyer's latest French screen hit, "Le Bonheur," which had its New England premiere at the Newseel Theatre, is being held over at this house a second week. The French star and Morley, is featured with Rose

"The Firefly," with Jeanette MacDonald and Allan Jones, and Little Tough Guy, with the Dead End Kids, occupy the Tremont screen through Saturday. A special late show Saturday night will commence at 10 p.m.

Now showing on the Edison screen is "Thoroughbred Don't Cry" with Mickey Rooney, and "Crane School" Program will continue through tomorrow.

The second feature on Medford Square Theatre screen, "The Octopus," starring Hugh Herbert, has absolutely nothing to do with the Plymouth current attraction on the same bill in the late Warmer Guard in one of his last appearances in Charlie Chan at Monte Carlo.

Junior League Players Present "Cinderella"

MEMBERS OF THE ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE at the opening of "Underella," produced by the Junior League Players yesterday and today at the Peabody Playhouse, were too young to possess film autographs, but delighted to sit and watch one of the famous types of characters come to life on the stage...

His Leonard played the part of Cinderella and had to walk barefooted, for, all the youngsters know the story so well that they would have detected the least slip in the lines . . . The first time Cinderella looked down to admire her glass slippers, she saw Fairy Godmother (Eleanor Aycock) had changed her from a kitchen maid into a Princess, almost every child in the audience sat up as high as he could and craned his neck to get a glimpse of the famous slippers . . .

The industry is again leading the recovery force in the stock market.

We have seen the stock market climb into new high recovery ground today with gains running to 2 points in active trading. Profit taking trimmed top marks slightly but trading quieted materially.

The lifting of tax selling pressure found the stock market in a receptive mood. For long weeks bullishness has been restrained by calendar considerations. And it was only right that the same influence should occasion an upside explosion.

The number of issues traded on Wednesday was extraordinarily large. It is a reason for minor suspicion. However, if prices can streak into new high recovery ground by the close today, especially industrials, we need not worry about it. In fact, it can then be marked down as action very often typical of the start of an important rise.

Ryder Hard

Eagle Track Squad Loses Vacation

Boston University's track and field team has received a severe setback. Jack Ryder, the star hurdler, will not be able to compete in the upcoming season because of a severe cold which he contracted during his vacation in the Adirondacks.

Jack Ryder refused to allow his trackmen any vacation during the Christmas recess. His contention is that a layoff of two weeks just before the indoor campaign gets underway makes it impossible to get the boys back in top shape for early January.

One of the reasons for the team's loss is the fact that the boys who were expected to be in top condition at the start of the season have been out of practice for several weeks. The team is now in a poor position to compete in the upcoming season.

MURRAY KRAMER

Fred Perry Stars; Then Loses Touch

PHILADELPHIA, N. C. (AP) — Fred Perry, the world champion tennis player, lost touch with the crowd in the second round of the midwinter tournament, but he completely blew up coming in and fell into the second flight of match play on Friday. Outward he led the field with a dazzling 38 two over par. On the back nine, however, he required 31 blows, 15 over par, for an 89. Henson Maple, of Prochrest, the winner last year, was modest with 40-40-80 on the 1-72 layout.

The Boston Olympic team hit these streaks. They managed to win the gold medal in the 100-yard dash, while some 5444 fans, including Capt. Knox Ready for Return McCoy Go

Next Move Now
Up to Al

By JACK CONWAY

I HAVE RECEIVED the following letter from Dewey Fragetta, manager of the hard-thumping Buddy Knox who won a decision over Al McCoy after ten torrid rounds of milling at the Garden:

Mr. Boston

Usually when a good fighter obtains a major win, he seldom gives his victim a rematch. Buddy Knox found his triumph over Al McCoy a help in his climb to fistic glory. Every major boxing club in the country now wants Knox to box for it. I believe Buddy and Lou Nova today stand out as the leading young heavyweights in the world.

In all fairness to Al McCoy for the latter's great fight, Knox is ready to sign for a return match at once and agree that the contest be held in Boston. I have always considered Boston one of the best fight towns in the country. Boston has been particularly fond of Irish-American boxers, and I know for this reason Knox is certain to receive a warmer welcome than the average run of fading boxers.

It is now up to McCoy, the loser in one of the most thrilling bouts ever staged in Boston, to decide if he wishes another crack at the victor, Buddy Knox.

Doesn't it consider this a generous offer on Knox's part?"

Knox Has Confidence in Himself

I LIKE THE MANNER in which Knox displays his own ability. He was confident in his winning of the decision over McCoy.

Knox, who is now on a vacation in Italy in the last of the year, will return to the Garden for a rematch with McCoy. McCoy had a comfortable win over Knox in the third round of the fight. Knox's left and right hand punches to the body.

Knox, a courageous youngster with unlimited recuperative powers, refused to acknowledge McCoy as his master. He kept fighting back and beginning with the eighth session showed to good advantage. Knox's big round was the ninth when he landed with some damaging right hand uppercuts.

A draw would have been a good decision, but I could not quarrel with the split verdict that gave the award to Knox. There was sufficient glory for Knox and McCoy.

Henry Chmielewski's Ring Future

HARRY KELLEY is of the opinion that the colorful Henry Chmielewski, Polish youngster, will be battling the top flight middleweight champions. Chmielewski has engaged in four bouts in New England and he has won all of them. His two Boston bouts have ended with knockouts.

"I never saw a young middleweight who liked to fight any better than Chmielewski," said Kelley. "The Polish sensation throws a right hand faster than any 160-165-pounder in the world. He pours in punches and he gets to work on an opponent."

Chmielewski still has much to learn about infighting. He must be taught how to keep his ring rival from landing body blows when at close quarters.

"I don't believe Chmielewski will be in many clinches as the fellow likes to fight too much. He is at his best when roaring forward behind a barrage of right hand punches."

Kelley has been engaged by Stanislaus Zhyzasko to handle Chmielewski. Harry was trainer for Johnny Wilson when the latter won world middleweight championship, and will try to guide his latest charge to the championship heights.

The Chmielewski decision is a wide open field for him to make good in.

Wally Krueger of Brooklyn is generally regarded as champion while Fred Apostoli is rated as the leading challenger. I do not consider either Krueger or Apostoli great fighters, and if Chmielewski can keep winning, he will have an fine chance to punch his way to the title. Chmielewski has a powerful, well set up body, but it is as puncher that he has clicked with the fans.

The Chmielewski decision will set up a fine scene in Boston at the Garden. When Lou Nova returns, he will have a new rival. Nova's last fight was a knockout over the Garden champion, and he will be looking for a rematch.

Random Shots at Target

THE JIMMY BRADDOCK comeback was quite fast with the fans. The former champion will find he will have much of his previous success. The comeback through with a proposed fight with Lou Nova. Nova is being made to build Nova as an opponent for Braddock. Jimmy Braddock is being considered as a possible contender for the title.

I met Gus Sonnenberg, and he was much elated over being signed to fight with Reddy Roth in the feature bout of Paul Bowser's wrestling show at the Garden in January 6. The old Dynamite's comeback drew him some excitement. Gus recently wrecked Wee Willie Davis at the Garden. The Dutch beat places Sonnenberg back in "big time" wrestling.

Sport-O-Grimes Clipper Forces Issue

After their 2 to 1 overtime victory against Shawinigan Falls, the Olympics will pack the Garden to its limit Saturday night when they meet McGill University. Tom Moore gave a most sensational exhibition of goal minding last night and it was his playing that nipped the 15 out of a losing streak which had reached the ten game mark. Also, the officiating was a vast improvement over the Monday night exhibition, which cost the Olympics a well earned win. George Seabury, the Yale hockey player is home for a few days.

He is suffering from a slight "Charlie Horse" but expects to be fully recovered when the big pack chasers resume their ice activities. Coach Andy Herr, (colgate, has a son in the freshman class at the Harvard Medical School. "Clipper" Smith wants to be athletic director along with being head coach at Boston College. And, that is the hitch that's holding up the parade. . . .

Smith, who hails from Lawrence, is home for the holidays. . . . He'll return to the University of Delaware, where he is head coach of football and basketball, on Saturday. . . . Coach Bill Drenberger's call for E. H. S. hockey candidates brought out 235 applicants. . . . The squad is now down to 24. . . . As soon as he graduates from Yale in June, Felix (Aracelio) will hit for Milwaukee to enter the steel business. . . . Eddie Collins, Jr., has spent most of his vacation in New Haven. . . .

Making up a reading course, which he was obliged to neglect during the football season. . . . When "Bingo" Kampman returns to the Maple Leafs, Jimmie Fowler will be sent to Syracuse. . . . Bill Cowell, the Athletic Director at the University of New Hampshire, spent eleven weeks in a local hospital. . . . Then he went out to the Mayo Clinic. . . .

Now, he's attending the college football coaches meeting in Chicago. . . . North Quincy High school will play all of its football games in the new Quincy Stadium next fall. . . . There will be eight clubs in the N. H. A. A. season. . . . The Eddie Collins, Jr. owners have discovered that the seven club league arrangement is nothing but a benefit for the railroads and hotels. . . . The Bruins are confronted by a strenuous week end, playing Rangers in New York Saturday night and the Red Wings here New Year's. . . . As the same is true of the Wings, who after tackling the Bruins at the Garden move over to the "Big City" for a workout against Rangers. . . . Hockey is far too strenuous for games to be scheduled for consecutive nights.

Osmaniski May Miss East-West Tilt

H. C. Ace Hurt In Scrimmage

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 29 (INS)—X-rays of a shoulder injury which Bill Osmaniski, East fullback, suffered in scrimmage were to be studied today to determine if the plunging Holy Cross star can play in the East-West annual Shrine charity game January 2 at San Francisco.

Andy Kerr of Colgate, co-coach of the East team with Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, almost cried as Osmaniski trudged from the field.

"I knew we shouldn't have had scrimmage," said Andy. "Every year it's the same thing. We lose two or three key men out of a squad of 22."

Duke All-America Center Able to Face Trojans

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 29 (INS)—Southern California's Trojans, 2 to 1 favorites, moved to Pasadena today following their final scrimmage at home in Los Angeles.

Quick kicking is playing an important part in the final practices for the sold-out Rose Bowl game with Duke on Monday.

Knott's observers report that Howard Jones is pressing his style of play to effect the admitted punting superiority of Eric Tipton of the Blue Devils.

Mickey Anderson, who was released from the hospital upon recovering from a stomach ache, is the best of the Trojan quick kickers. Anderson or Jimmy Jones likely will be called upon to do most of the punting against Tipton.

With the idea of using his substitutes individually, instead of sending them in as a unit, Coach Jones has been mixing his lineups more than anytime during the regular season.

Coach Wallace Wade threw a cloak of mystery around the Duke practice with "no admission" signs displayed. News leaked out, however, that Dan Hill, the All-America center who injured his back on Tuesday, would be ready to play toponotch ball against the Trojans.

The Blue Devils have been concentrating upon their forward pass defense.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (INS)—Dissatisfaction was expressed today by Coaches Bob Neyland, of Tennessee, and Tom Stidham of Oklahoma, as they prepared for the Orange Bowl football battle in Miami Monday.

Coach Neyland said, "We are going to have to pass to get through that Oklahoma defense." He added the Tennessee defense had been over-balanced on the running side all season.

Coach Stidham, asked how the Sooners looked, replied:

"Not so good. The boys looked sluggish. They haven't recovered from the effects of the train ride."

Sonnenberg Signed Up With Dusek

Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, gets his chance in a main bout at the Boston Garden at last when he faces Rudy Dusek, oldest and toughest of the Omaha wrestling clan, Friday night, Jan. 6, according to an announcement made by Promoter Paul Bowser.

"Sonny had demanded a main event on the threat of leaving town and seeking bouts elsewhere," Bowser, after all, he has demonstrated that he is capable of tracking down the best of them in these past few weeks and that he is really sincere when he says he will win back the title.

"I thought I had him stopped when I paired him with Wee Willie Davis, who weighed 290 pounds, but Sonny came through that one so impressively all I could do was to put him in the main event."

So between Sonny's threat and the demands of his public the old Dynamiter at last is in a position where he can move up the ladder that leads to the title.

Dusek, an old mat villain, will be Sonny's most severe test since he made Boston his headquarters a few weeks ago. Rudy lately has wrestled to a draw with the sensational Jim Casey and recently made short work of Pat Kelley, who had showed promise of becoming a headliner.

SHOULDER ARMS—BEST BET

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., Dec. 29.—Longchamp Farms Shoulder Arms, which led home Floragina, Joe Schenck, Roar and others in his first trip to the platter in the Coconut Belt, is picking up a paltry three pounds and is still best for today.

Donchin Pins The Hazard

Myer "Curly" Donchin successfully defended his light-heavyweight crown and ran his string of victories to six as he pinned the Dark Hazard in two out of three falls to wind up the local wrestling season before 3000 at the Arena.

The tough, tough "Hazard" took the first fall after 22:04 of grappling with an inside crotch, body lift and slam.

But the champ came right back to win the next heat and then took the deciding fall in 9:12 with a top body press.

In the other matches Jack Marshall and Carl Von Zappe went 20 minutes to a draw; Jim Spencer defeated Dan Cady in 5:34 with a top body press. Frenchy LaBelle won from Dynamite Joe Dempsey when the latter was disqualified; Sandy MacDonald and Tiger Flowers fought 20 minutes to a draw, and Dr. John "Dropkick" Murphy threw Dick Costello in 15:45 with his famed dropkick.

Lyon Issues Challenge

Veteran In Silver Skate Derby

A challenge that means business was voiced today by Herbert A. Lyon of Roslindale.

Sixty-year-old Herb Lyon first lays claim to the veterans' half-mile speed skating championship of New England, then dares one and all parties 50 years or over to dispute his title to battle it out at the Silver Skates Derby.

Mr. Lyon participated in last year's Silver Skates at Boston Garden, competing against youngsters two score years younger. He acquitted himself nobly.

If there are any takers on Mr. Lyon's challenge, we promise that we will put on a special half-mile veterans' race at the 1938 Derby, the big annual fixture to be held at the Garden on the afternoon of Sunday, January 22.

FAST FIELDS ASSURED

Entries are mounting at a fast and furious rate and now that cold weather has brought ideal skating conditions, the directors of the Boston American-Sunday Advertiser sponsored skating party are assured a great field of contenders.

Among the latest entries are Dorothea Schneider, 34, of Roslindale; Harold Altman, 16, of Malden; Edward Sullivan, 13, of Roxbury; John McNamara, 15, of Milton; Sidney Sunon, 17, Mattapan; Claire Chesley, Jr., 16, all the way from Auburn, Me.; Stanley Olech, 22, of the Boston Olympics, and Warren Moore, 15, of Boston.

From Fitchburg, comes the entries of the three well known Goguen brothers, Clarence, 21; Gerald, 13; and Alex, 18, all members of the St. Joseph Club.

Once again the entry blank appears today. Remember every resident of New England, young or old, male or female, is welcome. File your entry TODAY.

Promising Youths In Longwood Joust

By WALTER KILEY

A new and banner crop of young tennis players, by far the most encouraging in years, is coming along to replace depleted ranks and to paint the future picture more brightly.

There have been any number of excellent prospects in the field which has been going through daily paces in the national girls' junior indoor championships at Longwood Covered Courts this week.

Of the quartet which reached the semifinal stage today, little Helen Bernhard of Harlem, 17 years old, has already been given country-wide recognition.

Miss Bernhard, defending champion at Longwood, is ranked No. 17 in the list of women players of the nation and No. 1 among the eastern girl stars.

SMALL IN STATURE

This girl has the shots and the iron will to make good in senior ranks. While small she is still powerful, is keen and quick to react to the situation and justly rated favorite to turn in a repeat triumph in tomorrow's final.

However, the Gothamite, in her flaming ambition to climb to the game's heights, stands a chance of burning herself out too early in life.

Tennis is more than a game with her. It's a passion, so that schooling and the usual normal girl's pleasures have little place in her life. She plays in every tournament she can reach, winter and summer.

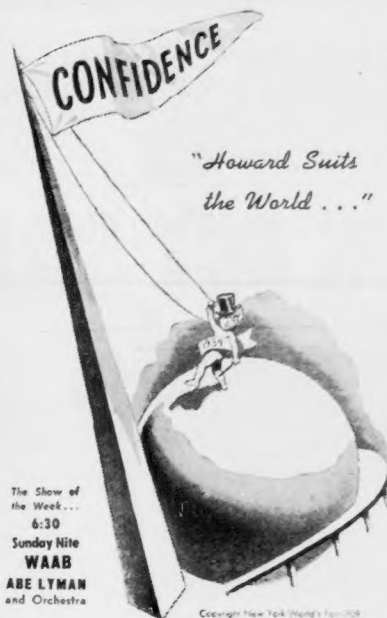

Miss Bernhard has a worthy rival from nearby Brooklyn who may yet seriously challenge her for top honors.

It's Josephine Sanfilippo, 17-year-old daughter of Italy, a strong, pleasant girl who excels in badminton, volley ball, basketball, table tennis and all feminine sports at New Utrecht high school.

BOTH FROM NEW YORK

Miss Sanfilippo is ranked just behind Miss Bernhard in the eastern groupings and many look to see her jump out front in the immediate future.

The pair of New Yorkers recently met in the Yonkers finals, Helen winning out a hard fought, bitterly contested 7-5, 6-4 decision.
